Dedication

This book is dedicated with love:

To my father, the late Charles E. Harris, my mother, Deloris B. Harris, and my two sisters, Sonya D. Harris, and Jennifer B. Harris.

I also dedicate this book to all the members of the Harris, Bradley, Clark, and Taylor families who left us far too early.

We miss you!

I likewise dedicate this book to my life partner, Anne D. Harris, and my former Mayer Brown partner and friend, John A. Janicik, who we lost way too soon.

I will end this dedication with my favorite quote:

“The only way to stop the pain is to stop running.”

Acknowledgments

These are the first acknowledgements I have ever written so please bear with me. Plus, I'm deciding to shoot from the hip rather than doing the lawyer thing and looking at prior precedent to see how I should write them. To the extent possible, I'm also completely erasing from my mind the many acknowledgements that I have read in the past. Here we go:

First, authoring this publication was a ton of work over the past year plus! I couldn't have done it without the generous assistance of the other coordinating authors, Sarah E. Reynolds, who, among other things, helped review, draft, and revise content, and Marjan A. Batchelor, who did all of that and also managed the project. Thank you to the other talented authors who gave their time to help complete this book. As profiled below, they are Samantha Booth, David "Big Dave" Cole, David Dowd, Eric Evans, John Gaidoo, Cristina Henriquez, Vazantha "Vee" Meyers, Mathew Siporin, Allison Stowell, and Tara Trask. I greatly appreciate your timeliness, professionalism, and the care you put into creating superb content. Thank you to the former summer associates who helped early in the process, Nathan Rice and Andrew Spadafora. And a big thank you to Rachel Clingman, Michael Lackey, and Evan Tager; each of you is responsible for me having the opportunity to author this book. Last, but not least, thank you to Joseph Snapper (please get well), and the many authors from the publication, Litigation Management, who gave us excellent content to work from.

There were also many other people who helped along the way, and I thank each and every one of you.
